Tournament. On Sunday April 1, 2007, the Bassbusters and the Venture Crew from BSA Troop 2631 joined in a fishing tournament, intended to promote fishing among the younger set. Venture Crew members are scouts from fourteen to twenty years old and are at least high school freshmen. The program is designed to allow young men to continue their participation in scouting. Of those participating in this tournament, four were Eagle Scouts and one was a Life Scout who soon will have his review by the Eagle Board.

Members of St. Louis Bassbusters, who participated, enjoy the company of young people and there interest in outdoor activities separate from fishing. Every boat caught at least one keeper fish and the winners had a five fish limit weighing 12.4 pounds. The team of Emil Deluca and Danny Moller took first place and received a first place plaque provided by the Bassbusters.

Big Bass was weighed by the team of Dave Franklyn and Rici Gosh and hit the scale at four pounds.

Everyone expressed their satisfaction and enjoyment of the event and their desire to do it again.
